2.2.3- Institution facilitates building and sustenance of innate talent /aptitude of individual students (extramural activities/beyond-the-classroom activities such as Student Clubs, cultural Societies, etc)

The Student Nurses Association (SNA) of Sree Narayana College of Nursing, affiliated with Dr. NTR University of Health Sciences, Vijayawada, is a vibrant and impactful student body in Andhra Pradesh. Our students have achieved recognition at the highest levels, including leadership positions within the Andhra Pradesh State Student Nurses Association.

The SNA is dedicated to fostering the inherent potential of its members, providing a platform for students to develop their unique talents and contribute to their overall growth. We are committed to nurturing these talents and shaping our members into responsible citizens and skilled nursing professionals. The association operates under the bylaws of the Trained Nurses Association of India (TNAI), upholding the highest standards of ethical practice and professional conduct.

Objective:-

- Professionalism: To instill a deep understanding and commitment to the ideals and ethics of the nursing profession.
- Teamwork: To foster a strong sense of camaraderie and collaboration among members, encouraging them to work together towards shared goals.
- Leadership: To cultivate effective leadership skills by providing opportunities for students to take initiative, organize events, and inspire others.
- Civic Engagement: To promote active participation in social and community initiatives, fostering a sense of responsibility and contributing to the betterment of society.
- Personal Growth: To nurture the hidden talents of members, boost their confidence, and encourage self-discovery.
- Academic Excellence: To motivate students to strive for excellence by participating in competitions, attending conferences, and engaging in continuous learning.
