REPORT ON ANIMAL HOUSE VISIT

Date: 16.04.2019

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I Year B.Sc. (N), I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

Introduction

The animal house facility at Narayana Medical College and Hospital is dedicated to enhancing teaching, training, and research in Experimental Pharmacology. It is equipped to meet the increasing demand for high-quality laboratory animals and is supported by qualified veterinarians and technical personnel. The facility is registered with the Committee for the Purpose of Control and Supervision of Experiments on Animals (CPCSEA), Government of India, Ministry of Environment, Forest & Climate Change, New Delhi, under Registration No.: 1859/PO/Re/16/CPCSEA.

Objectives of the Visit

The primary objectives of the visit were:

- To gain knowledge on the feeding and caring of animals.
- To understand the process of dissections.
- To develop research skills related to animal studies.

Permission and Preparations

Permission for the visit was obtained from both the Principal and the Animal House In-Charge. Students were informed that no animals would be harmed during the visit. A total of 98 students from the B.Sc. and P.B.B.Sc. programs participated in the visit.

Activities During the Visit

The students spent a total of 2 hours at the animal house. During their time there, they engaged in the following activities:

- Observation of Feeding Patterns: Students observed how animals are fed and cared for, learning about their dietary needs and feeding routines.
- Dissections: Students were involved in dissections, gaining practical knowledge about animal anatomy.

Research Activities: They observed various research activities and how they are conducted on animals.

Each student was assigned an individual animal to look after, including feeding and caring for it throughout the visit. The veterinarian provided a detailed explanation of medicine administration methods, enhancing the students' understanding of practical skills required in research.

Feedback and Experience

The students provided positive feedback, stating that the visit was extremely useful for their research activities. They appreciated the opportunity to gain hands-on experience and expressed that the visit was both mentally and emotionally fulfilling. The practical exposure not only enhanced their awareness but also significantly contributed to their understanding of animal research practices.

Conclusion

The visit to the animal house was a valuable educational experience for the students, offering them insights into animal care, dissection, and research methods. The feedback from the students reflects the effectiveness of the visit in enriching their practical knowledge and providing a comprehensive learning experience.

REPORT ON ANIMAL HOUSE VISIT

Date: 09.04.2021

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I Year B.Sc. (N), I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

Introduction

The animal house facility at Narayana Medical College and Hospital is dedicated to enhancing teaching, training, and research in Experimental Pharmacology. It is equipped to meet the increasing demand for high-quality laboratory animals and is supported by qualified veterinarians and technical personnel. The facility is registered with the Committee for the Purpose of Control and Supervision of Experiments on Animals (CPCSEA), Government of India, Ministry of Environment, Forest & Climate Change, New Delhi, under Registration No.: 1859/PO/Re/16/CPCSEA.

Objectives of the Visit

The primary objectives of the visit were:

- To gain knowledge on the feeding and caring of animals.
- To understand the process of dissections.
- To develop research skills related to animal studies.

Permission and Preparations

Permission for the visit was obtained from both the Principal and the Animal House In-Charge. Students were informed that no animals would be harmed during the visit. A total of 116 students from the B.Sc. and P.B.B.Sc. programs participated in the visit.

Activities During the Visit

The students spent a total of 2 hours at the animal house. During their time there, they engaged in the following activities:

- Observation of Feeding Patterns: Students observed how animals are fed and cared for, learning about their dietary needs and feeding routines.
- Dissections: Students were involved in dissections, gaining practical knowledge about animal anatomy.
- Research Activities: They observed various research activities and how they are conducted on animals.

Each student was assigned an individual animal to look after, including feeding and caring for it throughout the visit. The veterinarian provided a detailed explanation of medicine administration methods, enhancing the students' understanding of practical skills required in research.

Feedback and Experience

The students provided positive feedback, stating that the visit was extremely useful for their research activities. They appreciated the opportunity to gain hands-on experience and expressed that the visit was both mentally and emotionally fulfilling. The practical exposure not only enhanced their awareness but also significantly contributed to their understanding of animal research practices.

Conclusion

The visit to the animal house was a valuable educational experience for the students, offering them insights into animal care, dissection, and research methods. The feedback from the students reflects the effectiveness of the visit in enriching their practical knowledge and providing a comprehensive learning experience.

REPORT ON ANIMAL HOUSE VISIT

Date: 01.04.2022

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I Year B.Sc. (N), I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

Introduction

The animal house facility at Narayana Medical College and Hospital is dedicated to enhancing teaching, training, and research in Experimental Pharmacology. It is equipped to meet the increasing demand for high-quality laboratory animals and is supported by qualified veterinarians and technical personnel. The facility is registered with the Committee for the Purpose of Control and Supervision of Experiments on Animals (CPCSEA), Government of India, Ministry of Environment, Forest & Climate Change, New Delhi, under Registration No.: 1859/PO/Re/16/CPCSEA.

Objectives of the Visit

The primary objectives of the visit were:

- To gain knowledge on the feeding and caring of animals.
- To understand the process of dissections.
- To develop research skills related to animal studies.

Permission and Preparations

Permission for the visit was obtained from both the Principal and the Animal House In-Charge. Students were informed that no animals would be harmed during the visit. A total of 120 students from the B.Sc. and P.B.B.Sc. programs participated in the visit.

Activities During the Visit

The students spent a total of 2 hours at the animal house. During their time there, they engaged in the following activities:

- Observation of Feeding Patterns: Students observed how animals are fed and cared for, learning about their dietary needs and feeding routines.
- Dissections: Students were involved in dissections, gaining practical knowledge about animal anatomy.

- Research Activities: They observed various research activities and how they are conducted on animals.

Each student was assigned an individual animal to look after, including feeding and caring for it throughout the visit. The veterinarian provided a detailed explanation of medicine administration methods, enhancing the students' understanding of practical skills required in research.

Feedback and Experience

The students provided positive feedback, stating that the visit was extremely useful for their research activities. They appreciated the opportunity to gain hands-on experience and expressed that the visit was both mentally and emotionally fulfilling. The practical exposure not only enhanced their awareness but also significantly contributed to their understanding of animal research practices.

Conclusion

The visit to the animal house was a valuable educational experience for the students, offering them insights into animal care, dissection, and research methods. The feedback from the students reflects the effectiveness of the visit in enriching their practical knowledge and providing a comprehensive learning experience.

REPORT ON HERBAL GARDEN VISIT

Date: 18.04.2019

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I B.Sc. (N) and I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

A group of 96 nursing students visited the herbal garden at Narayana Medical College and Hospital Campus after obtaining permission from the concerned authority. The visit was organized to achieve the following objectives:

- To encourage students to use herbs in food and cooking practices, as herbs are valuable dietary supplements.
- To promote the concept of a home herbal garden among students.
- To educate students on identifying different types of herbs, their uses, and how to grow them in gardens.
- To foster an appreciation for local biodiversity and its conservation, particularly herbal plants.

Activities During the Visit:

During the visit, students participated in various activities such as planting saplings, spraying insecticides to protect the plants, watering, and maintaining the plants. They also helped clean the surrounding areas of the garden. These activities helped the students learn to identify different herbs and plants regularly.

Outcomes:

Students were motivated to explore the herbal garden, identify various species, and understand the characteristics of medicinal plants. The visit provided them with practical knowledge about herbs and their medicinal properties. The feedback from the students indicated that the visit was highly beneficial for their research activities and understanding of herbal medicine.

REPORT ON HERBAL GARDEN VISIT

Date: 12.03.2020

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I B.Sc. (N) and I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

A group of 106 nursing students visited the herbal garden at Narayana Medical College and Hospital Campus after obtaining permission from the concerned authority. The visit was organized to achieve the following objectives:

- To encourage students to use herbs in food and cooking practices, as herbs are valuable dietary supplements.
- To promote the concept of a home herbal garden among students.
- To educate students on identifying different types of herbs, their uses, and how to grow them in gardens.
- To foster an appreciation for local biodiversity and its conservation, particularly herbal plants.

Activities During the Visit:

During the visit, students participated in various activities such as planting saplings, spraying insecticides to protect the plants, watering, and maintaining the plants. They also helped clean the surrounding areas of the garden. These activities helped the students learn to identify different herbs and plants regularly.

Outcomes:

Students were motivated to explore the herbal garden, identify various species, and understand the characteristics of medicinal plants. The visit provided them with practical knowledge about herbs and their medicinal properties. The feedback from the students indicated that the visit was highly beneficial for their research activities and understanding of herbal medicine.

REPORT ON HERBAL GARDEN VISIT

Date: 24.04.2021

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I B.Sc. (N) and I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

A group of 116 nursing students visited the herbal garden at Narayana Medical College and Hospital Campus after obtaining permission from the concerned authority. The visit was organized to achieve the following objectives:

- To encourage students to use herbs in food and cooking practices, as herbs are valuable dietary supplements.
- To promote the concept of a home herbal garden among students.
- To educate students on identifying different types of herbs, their uses, and how to grow them in gardens.
- To foster an appreciation for local biodiversity and its conservation, particularly herbal plants.

Activities During the Visit:

During the visit, students participated in various activities such as planting saplings, spraying insecticides to protect the plants, watering, and maintaining the plants. They also helped clean the surrounding areas of the garden. These activities helped the students learn to identify different herbs and plants regularly.

Outcomes:

Students were motivated to explore the herbal garden, identify various species, and understand the characteristics of medicinal plants. The visit provided them with practical knowledge about herbs and their medicinal properties. The feedback from the students indicated that the visit was highly beneficial for their research activities and understanding of herbal medicine.

REPORT ON HERBAL GARDEN VISIT

Date: 07.04.2022

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I B.Sc. (N) and I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

A group of 120 nursing students visited the herbal garden at Narayana Medical College and Hospital Campus after obtaining permission from the concerned authority. The visit was organized to achieve the following objectives:

- To encourage students to use herbs in food and cooking practices, as herbs are valuable dietary supplements.
- To promote the concept of a home herbal garden among students.
- To educate students on identifying different types of herbs, their uses, and how to grow them in gardens.
- To foster an appreciation for local biodiversity and its conservation, particularly herbal plants.

Activities During the Visit:

During the visit, students participated in various activities such as planting saplings, spraying insecticides to protect the plants, watering, and maintaining the plants. They also helped clean the surrounding areas of the garden. These activities helped the students learn to identify different herbs and plants regularly.

Outcomes:

Students were motivated to explore the herbal garden, identify various species, and understand the characteristics of medicinal plants. The visit provided them with practical knowledge about herbs and their medicinal properties. The feedback from the students indicated that the visit was highly beneficial for their research activities and understanding of herbal medicine.

REPORT ON ANIMAL HOUSE VISIT

Date: 02.05.2023

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I Year B.Sc. (N), I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

Introduction

The animal house facility at Narayana Medical College and Hospital is dedicated to enhancing teaching, training, and research in Experimental Pharmacology. It is equipped to meet the increasing demand for high-quality laboratory animals and is supported by qualified veterinarians and technical personnel. The facility is registered with the Committee for the Purpose of Control and Supervision of Experiments on Animals (CPCSEA), Government of India, Ministry of Environment, Forest & Climate Change, New Delhi, under Registration No.: 1859/PO/Re/16/CPCSEA.

Objectives of the Visit

The primary objectives of the visit were:

- To gain knowledge on the feeding and caring of animals.
- To understand the process of dissections.
- To develop research skills related to animal studies.

Permission and Preparations

Permission for the visit was obtained from both the Principal and the Animal House In-Charge. Students were informed that no animals would be harmed during the visit. A total of 85 students from the B.Sc. and P.B.B.Sc. programs participated in the visit.

Activities During the Visit

The students spent a total of 2 hours at the animal house. During their time there, they engaged in the following activities:

- Observation of Feeding Patterns: Students observed how animals are fed and cared for, learning about their dietary needs and feeding routines.
- Dissections: Students were involved in dissections, gaining practical knowledge about animal anatomy.

Research Activities: They observed various research activities and how they are conducted on animals.

Each student was assigned an individual animal to look after, including feeding and caring for it throughout the visit. The veterinarian provided a detailed explanation of medicine administration methods, enhancing the students' understanding of practical skills required in research.

Feedback and Experience

The students provided positive feedback, stating that the visit was extremely useful for their research activities. They appreciated the opportunity to gain hands-on experience and expressed that the visit was both mentally and emotionally fulfilling. The practical exposure not only enhanced their awareness but also significantly contributed to their understanding of animal research practices.

Conclusion

The visit to the animal house was a valuable educational experience for the students, offering them insights into animal care, dissection, and research methods. The feedback from the students reflects the effectiveness of the visit in enriching their practical knowledge and providing a comprehensive learning experience.

REPORT ON HERBAL GARDEN VISIT

Date: 12.04.2024

Duration: 2 Hours

Group: I B.Sc. (N) and I Year P.B.B.Sc. (N)

A group of 84 nursing students visited the herbal garden at Narayana Medical College and Hospital Campus after obtaining permission from the concerned authority. The visit was organized to achieve the following objectives:

- To encourage students to use herbs in food and cooking practices, as herbs are valuable dietary supplements.
- To promote the concept of a home herbal garden among students.
- To educate students on identifying different types of herbs, their uses, and how to grow them in gardens.
- To foster an appreciation for local biodiversity and its conservation, particularly herbal plants.

Activities During the Visit:

During the visit, students participated in various activities such as planting saplings, spraying insecticides to protect the plants, watering, and maintaining the plants. They also helped clean the surrounding areas of the garden. These activities helped the students learn to identify different herbs and plants regularly.

Outcomes:

Students were motivated to explore the herbal garden, identify various species, and understand the characteristics of medicinal plants. The visit provided them with practical knowledge about herbs and their medicinal properties. The feedback from the students indicated that the visit was highly beneficial for their research activities and understanding of herbal medicine.
